Cell() takes the following arguments (all of them optional):

The cell width and height. If you omit the width then the cell stretches to the right margin. If you omit the height then it defaults to zero.

The string of text to print. Defaults to ''.

Where to place the current position after drawing the cell. Values can be 0 (to the right), 1 (to the start of the next line), or 2 (below). Default: 0.
